Note about For-Profit Scholarship Search Services:

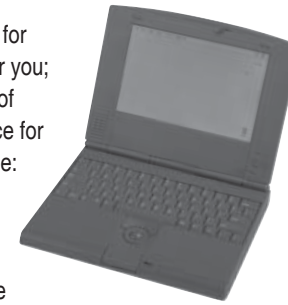

Several for-profit companies throughout the United States offer computerized search services, often charging fees ranging from $75 to $175 or higher. We do NOT recommend these services and we suggest that you thoroughly investigate them before submitting any application fees. Also, see these websites for information on scholarship scams:

- FinAid page: www.finaid.org/scholarships/scams.phtml
- Federal Trade Commission: www.ftc.gov/bcp/conline/edcams/scholarship/index.html
- Office of Inspector General: www.ed.gov/about/offices/list/oig/misused/index.html

Because of the nature of federal, state, and institutional guidelines affecting financial aid programs, the information contained in this publication is subject to change.

FREE World Wide Web Scholarship Search Services for Private Scholarships:

The following sites will search for private scholarship sources for you; we've listed the most popular of these services. Another source for information is the "FinAid" page: www.finaid.org. Please note: The best source for U-M scholarships is the U-M Office of Financial Aid. If you receive email messages from these search companies saying you may qualify for a specific U-M scholarship, check the scholarship pages of our website first (www.finaid.umich.edu/types_of_financial_aid/scholarships/scholar.asp), to see if you would be eligible for the scholarship. For direct web links to the following scholarship search sites, as well as applications for some private scholarships available, see www.finaid.umich.edu/types_of_financial_aid/scholarships/scholapp.asp.

FINDING SCHOLARSHIPS:

Information for Enrolled U-M Undergraduates

This brochure provides information about scholarships for current undergraduates. You will also find tips on how to conduct your own search for private (non-University) scholarships. Note: To be considered for the "financial need" scholarships listed, students must apply for financial aid (see www.finaid.umich.edu/apply_and_receive_aid/applying_for_aid/genapply.asp).

For more information on scholarships administered by the University, see our website at www.finaid.umich.edu/types_of_financial_aid/scholarships/scholar.asp. You will also find U-M and private scholarship applications available from our Central Campus office (2011 Student Activities Building) and online at www.finaid.umich.edu/types_of_financial_aid/scholarships/scholapp.asp. In addition to these sources, you may want to check out scholarships available from places of employment, clubs, organizations, etc.
